Library presents 'Revive Civility' program to help deal with disagreements in an emotionally charged world

By SHERYL WALSH

Sheryl@YourTownCrier.com

WILMINGTON — This September, the Wilmington Memorial Library will sponsor a month-long program to raise awareness of the importance of civil conversations and exchanges in our society. 20 different events are available for adults, children, and teens. The kickoff event is a keynote presentation by Dr Carolyn Lukensmeyer, Executive Director of the National Institute for Civil Discourse.

Lukensmeyer will present background information and tools to answer the question she states: "What can we do to revive the social norms of civility and respect?" Her presentation is Sept 6 at 6:30 pm. Registration is required. Lukensmeyer explained that in the current world where people are bombarded with emotionally charged issues, civil conversations can become more difficult than ever. From town issues to 2nd Amendment rights and from local elections to national elections, feelings run deep.

Town chooses case-by-case policy for future TIF requests

By LIZZIE MCDERMOTT
News Correspondent

WILMINGTON — In the aftermath of the successful compromise tax increment financing (TIF) agreement extended to major local employer Analog Devices, some voiced concerns about dangerous precedent. At this point, however, the town has decided to look at future potential proposals hypothetically, rather than establish general criteria.

"I have had discussions with staff... and we've had conversations with other communities, and one of the concerns we have about establishing a policy is that it may be somewhat constraining by establishing particular criteria," said Town Manager Jeff Hull.

The tax increment financing subcommittee, which discussed both the Analog Devices plan and the potential for future proposals, consists of members of Finance Committee, Board of Selectmen, and internal staff.

Hull added that Burlington, Billerica, Tewksbury, Bedford, Andover have faced

Waste disposal company in breach of contract

By LIZZIE MCDERMOTT
News Correspondent

WILMINGTON — As international arguments in regards to export of recyclables continue to fester, Wilmington's waste disposal company appears to have fallen in breach of its contract.

In early 2018, China implemented a policy whereby it would no longer accept exported recyclable material from the US and Europe. This policy, called National Sword, was put into effect because an increasing portion of this waste was actually regular trash, rather than recyclable trash.

This policy has had a very real financial impact at the local level.

Russell Disposal Inc. must, in keeping with its contract with the town, provide a performance bond each year. This bond covers the annual cost of collection and would be used to cover costs incur-

Empathic Meditation

Thursdays, September (6, 13, 20, & 27), 11 am
Part of civility is being mindful of other people's thoughts and opinions as well as being kind to them no matter whether you agree or not. Meditation is a great way to work on that. These four half hour sessions will focus on general practices of compassion and gratitude as well as the Buddhist practices of Metta and Tonglen. Led by Technology Librarian Brad McKenna. Drop in

Revive Civility

Thursday, September 6, 6:30 pm
Dr. Carolyn Lukensmeyer, Executive Director of the National Institute for Civil Discourse, will explore the causes of incivility and disrespect that have been at play in the political arena and beyond. She will share the latest polling data about how Americans feel about the great divide and the impact it is having on their lives. Most importantly, she will share the signs of hope that the National Institute of Civil Discourse is finding: actions taken by elected officials, new models and experimentation in journalism, and what ordinary Americans are doing to respond to this crisis. The evening will end with the exploration of what we can do here in our own community.

Electrify your ride - part 5

PEV performance: What to expect when driving electric

So far, the "Electrify Your Ride" article series has covered a variety of topics including the benefits of driving a plug-in electric vehicle (PEV), types of PEVs available, how and where to charge, and available incentives to reduce the purchase price of a PEV. But what about plug-in electric vehicle options and performance? Do they come with all the tech bells and whistles? How do they match up as far as acceleration and suspension? Are they comfortable? For many of us, these are important considerations when shopping for a new vehicle.

First off, it's important to note that there are several different PEV makes and models on the market today — 40, to be precise (not including plug-in electric motorcycles) — and this number grows when considering the different trim options each model offers. PEVs are available as coupes, sedans, SUVs, and minivans — there are even a few four-wheel-drive models available. Options and performance differ greatly by make and model, just as with traditional gas-powered vehicles.

Generally speaking, PEVs are available with many of the same options and perform as well or better than their gas-powered counterparts. One huge performance advantage of an electric motor is torque. Torque is what gets a vehicle moving — the more torque, the greater the engine's ability to perform work. In the case of gas-powered vehicles, engines need to be rotating at a certain speed (revolutions per minute or rpm) to reach maximum torque. With an electric motor, maximum torque is available when the vehicle is at a complete standstill. This means that PEVs are more responsive at lower speeds than traditional gas-powered cars.

PEVs are also comparable when it comes to driving in winter weather with one big advantage: many PEVs come with a pre-heat feature which can be activated from the key fob or a smart phone app. This warms the interior of the car and the motor without actually turning the car on. This feature also helps to reduce battery range loss that can occur during extreme cold weather.

When considering the purchase of a PEV, it's best to determine what's important to you and then see what makes/models may be a fit. Plug in America (<https://pluginamerica.org/>) and Mass Energy Consumer Alliance (<https://www.massenergy.org/drivegreen>) offer helpful vehicle comparisons and customer testimonials on their websites. Many other websites offer free reviews and ratings of available PEVs, so do your research but be aware of the source of the information. Consumer Reports also offers ratings, but only to paying members.

RMLD residential customers who are ready to electrify their ride can take advantage of the summer plug-in electric vehicle pilot rebate program, which offers a $1,500 rebate for the lease or purchase of a new or used Battery Electric Vehicle, and a $1,000 rebate for the lease or purchase of a new Plug-In Hybrid Electric Vehicle PLUS. Delivery must be taken by Oct. 31, 2018.

RMLD also offers residential customers a rebate of 100 percent of equipment costs up to $500 for the home installation of a networked (or "smart") AC level 2 charging station.

For more information on these rebates, visit <https://www.rmld.com/electric-vehicle-rebate-programs>.

Want to learn more about PEVs and take a test drive? Stop in to a Plug-in Electric Vehicle Ride and Drive Event on Sunday, Sept. 16, 2018 from 10 a.m. - 2 p.m. at RMLD's offices located at 230 Ash St., Reading.

This is the fifth in a series of articles RMLD will publish this summer regarding plug-in electric vehicles. Be on the lookout for our next article: Plug-in Electric Vehicle Range. THE "NEW" ALTERNATIVE MINIMUM TAX

— PART IV —

What types of taxpayers are likely to be subject to the AMT?

- Individual taxpayers with taxable income above $1,000,000 because the $109,400 exemption amount for AMTI determination does not begin to phase out until AMTI exceeds $1,000,000 (joint filers) with a full phase-out at $1,437,600; the increased exemption and phase-out thresholds also do not apply to trusts.
- Taxpayers with significant active investments in oil or gas, because the preferences for oil and gas are added back to taxable income to arrive at AMTI
- Taxpayers with significant investments in municipal bonds that are characterized as private activity bonds
- Taxpayers with significant investment in depreciable properties and particularly depreciable personal properties
- Taxpayers realizing a significant profit at the time of ISO exercise, since the "profit" is not includible in taxable income but is includible in AMTI
- Taxpayers recognizing a significant gain on the disposition of Section 1202 stock, as 7% of that income otherwise excluded from taxable income is added back to AMTI
- Taxpayers with a high percentage of long-term capital gains and qualified dividends in proportion to other income types; since there is no rate differential with taxation at 20% for taxable long-term capital gains and qualified dividends between the regular income tax and the AMT

Diehl will repeal the medical device tax

WILMINGTON — Representative Geoff Diehl, the endorsed Republican candidate for U.S. Senate, toured Wilmington's Spectra, which is a leading edge medical device company.

"The Commonwealth needs a Senator who will support Massachusetts businesses. Unfortunately, Senator Warren has been more focused on running for President than helping our state. She has refused to say whether or not she would support the bill that passed in the House repealing the medical device tax which is hurting businesses like Spectra," said Diehl.

Last month Congress passed a measure repealing the tax on medical devices which was included within Obamacare.

"Employers like Spectra need a pro-active Senator who will fight for them in the Senate," said Diehl.

Spectra Medical Devices, Inc. was founded in 1995 by Anthony C. Arrigo. Arrigo was previously CEO, President and owner of American Medical Instruments, Inc. in Massachusetts, a market leader in manufacturing custom procedural needles, which is now the needle division of Tegra Medical.

Spectra Medical Devices has since become one of the largest procedural needle manufacturers in the world, with substantial market share in over 20 countries. Spectra utilizes the latest state-of-the-art manufacturing, measuring and inspection systems, along with over 200 years of senior staff needle manufacturing experience.

Spectra has been awarded several US patents for special needle processing and product. Their primary focus is on patient safety, achieving substantial growth through quality and innovation. Spectra has four manufacturing plants worldwide employing over 200 personnel.

"Massachusetts deserves a full-time Senator — not a part-time author, part-time Senator, and part-time presidential candidate," said Diehl.

Wednesday evening's State Representative debate featuring the Democratic candidates can now be seen on WCTV's Government Channel (Comcast 22/Verizon 38). It is also available to stream online at wctv.org, where you can click to specific sections of the debate that you want to watch.

While Wednesday marked WCTV's biggest event ahead of the Sept. 4 primary, viewers can also see candidate interviews which were done in our studio last month. Those are airing multiple times each day on our channel and can be streamed online. We hope these 10-15 interviews help voters get a sense for who the candidates are.

Please note that WCTV will be airing LIVE coverage on election night, Sept. 4. Polls close at 8 p.m. and viewers can tune in to hear results from the Democratic race, which includes five candidates. While there are two Republicans on the ballot, Erin Buckley has withdrawn from the race, making that side uncontested.

One non-political note: WCTV's annual Family Fun Day will return this year to Yentile Park Recreational Facility. It'll be this Sunday, Aug. 26 from 11 a.m. - 2 p.m. Come on down for music, dance & karate demonstrations, free popcorn & ice cream as well as a tech demonstration of WCTV gear. This event is open to the public and FREE for all Wilmington families.

New Programs:

These air on one of WCTV's 3 television stations (Public: Comcast 9/Verizon 37 - Government: Comcast 22/Verizon 38 - Education: Comcast 99/Verizon 39). You can also watch most of them at WCTV.org.

• Where's Wilmington: Have you ever been to Foster's Pond? Hear about this scenic location that sits right along the Wilmington/Andover border.

• Kayak Class: Intern Cam Quinlan put together a video about the Rec Department's Kayak Class on Silver Lake last week.

• Rec Department Tiny Tots: See a video montage the Rec Department put together of another one of their successful summer programs.

• Conversations in Carlgans: The Library is back with a new video highlighting a big project coming up in September to Revive Civility.

Upcoming Live:

These air on WCTV's Government Channel: Comcast 22/Verizon 38.

• School Committee: Wednesday, Aug. 29 - 7 p.m.

• Election Night: Monday, Sept. 4 - 8 p.m.

History:

50 years later, another fish truck turns turtle

By LARZ F. NEILSON

Here's a variation of the classic fish story about the one that got away.

Last Thursday, 35 barrels of fish got away in Newcastle, Maine. It was a half-century redux of Wilmington's great fish scraps accident.

In each case, a truck overturned spilling fish onto the highway.

The accident last week in Maine involved a truck loaded with bait fish destined for sale to lobstermen Down-east. A car had stopped for a left turn on Route 1, a high-speed two lane road. The truck driver had to swerve to avoid the car. When the truck hit the shoulder of the road, over it went.

The Wilmington accident took place on Friday the 13th of October, 1967. If the story were to be told at the annual meeting of a liars club, the teller would probably win first prize. But the story is true.

Wilmington for many years had to endure the odors of a cat food factory. The factory had originally been located on Eames Street in Wilmington, and was known as Murphy's. Residents of the neighborhood, sick of the odors, mounted a drive and had the factory driven out of town.

Murphy, however, did not give up easily. He relocated his business to Woburn, only

▲ A car makes its way through a sea of fish scraps on Route 93 on the night of Oct. 13, 1967. The straight line at top is the West Street bridge. (File photo)

50 yards over the Wilmington line. Woburn would get the taxes, and South Wilmington would still get the smell.

The cat food factory remained on New Boston Street for some 50 years, changing hands a few times. The building is still there, but has been developed into some industrial offices.

In 1967, the cat food factory was run by Usen Canning Company. Every day, a large truck of fish scraps would come up Route 93, headed for Usen. The scraps came from the Boston Fish Pier and were the main ingredient used in making Tabby Cat Food. The load was messy, sort of liquid with various fish parts. The truck was not unlike a dump truck. The body was a large steel tub, leak proof, but open on the top.

At 6:45 p.m., truck driver Joseph Seville of Medford was in the second lane, headed north, approaching the Route 129 exit. Just before he went under the West Street bridge, he put his right directional signal on for a lane change. He began to ease the ten-ton truck into the right lane for the exit.

In his "blind spot" on the right was a Volkswagen. The driver of the bug leaned on his horn and passed the truck on the right. Seville had to swerve sharply to the left to avoid the VW, which sped off into the gathering darkness.

It is one thing to change the direction of a VW, and entirely another matter to change the direction of a truck. And if the truck happens to have a liquid load of 10 tons of fish scraps, that load will not turn quickly. Those fish scraps slapped against the side of the truck like so much water, and the impact knocked the truck right over on its side. The fish scraps poured out all over the highway — tons of oily fish scraps, all over the northbound lane of Route 93, right under the West Street bridge.

Both state and Wilmington police were soon on the scene, along with the Wilmington ambulance. The big truck had slid off the highway but nobody was injured.

The only problem was the fish blocking all four northbound lanes. And it was a problem.

Trooper Warren Bailey of the Mass. State Police called the Wilmington Fire Department and asked for a fire engine to hose down the highway. Lt. George Cushing pointed out that a mixture of fish oil and water is just about the slipperiest thing there is.

Bailey had to agree with Cushing. So instead, he called for snow removal equipment, from the Mass. Dept. of Public Works.

Cars were able to make their way through the slithering pile of fish scraps, but then they left morsels of fish all along the superhighway. As fast as the pavement was sanded, it had to be sanded again. It was dangerous, driving along that highway, and many a motorist had a tale to tell when he got home, how the rear of the car just slid around.

For 24 hours, the state trucks scattered sand on the highway, from the West Street bridge to the Route 62 interchange, five miles to the north.

It was the worst traffic tie-up in years on Route 93. The traffic jam extended over five miles to the south, beyond Route 128. State Police worked over three and a half hours to untangle it.

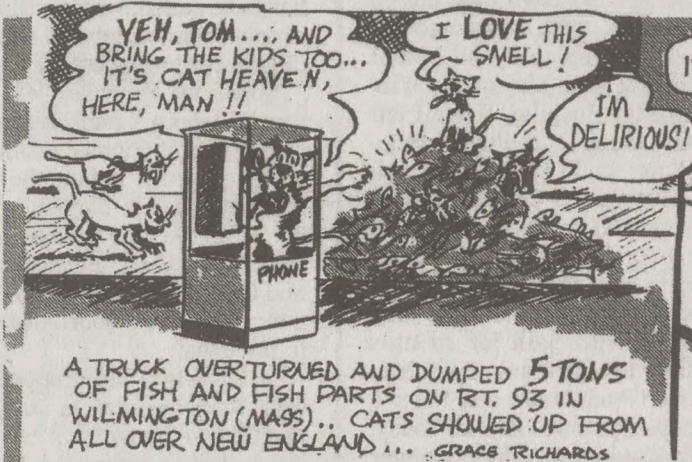

No one knows just how many secondary accidents occurred on that fish-slicked highway, but Trooper Bailey reported one four-car collision and three three-car accidents. There were at least 11 two-car collisions, he said.

One of those three-car accidents also involved a VW bug. It happened down near Route 128, five miles from the fish truck accident. This bug didn't get away. It was caught right in the middle, right between two larger cars. It was, one witness said, a perfect "bug sandwich."

Yankee Magazine later ran a cartoon on the accident in their "Yankee Tintinabulations" page. It showed a cat in a phone booth, calling his friends.

"Yeh, Tom, get down here ... and bring the kids too ... It's cat heaven here, man!" he said. "It's great!"

It claimed the foul fish attracted cats from all over New England. Now, that would have qualified for the Liars Club prize.

Who cares?

Who cares when a drug detox center can open up for business in the middle of any Wilmington neighborhood? Right idea, wrong location.

Who cares when a drug detox center can open up next to a school where our kids are inside learning? Right idea, wrong location.

Mike McCoy cares!

Mike authored and presented a new bylaw then led the charge to call for a special town meeting on December 16, 2017 to change the outdated zoning bylaws with a new bylaw that makes sense. Town meeting approved this bylaw change 368-62.

“ I'm a proud member of the Concerned Citizens Group of Wilmington. I was with them from the beginning and I'll be with them to the end. I am the ONLY public official who stood with them at the start and will stay with them every step of the way. ”

--Mike McCoy

“ Tewksbury and Wilmington families first, Tewksbury and Wilmington neighborhoods forever! ”

--Mike McCoy

“A win-win solution for all.”

Residents win: All future detox facilities cannot be located in any residential neighborhood zone.

The victims of the opioid epidemic win: Large tracts of land are now available to construct detox and full medical facilities in quiet, isolated environments conducive to rehabilitation. However, the fight still continues at 362 Middlesex Avenue where the developer locked in his zoning rights before the special town meeting took place.

Letters to the editor

McCoy willing to suffer to help residents of Wilmington

Dear editor,
I've known Mike McCoy for most of his adult and political life. Mike has always demonstrated to me, being a senior citizen, his kindness and sincerity when helping all the residents of this town. When residents are in need of support, many elected officials give you lip service. Not Mike McCoy. He tells it like it is. He doesn't sugarcoat.

If he can help you, he gives his all, just like he is doing to help us residents who are fighting the proposed detox center at 362 Middlesex Ave. We all know we need it and support it, but this is the wrong location. Mike McCoy championed the special town meeting to make a change that is fair to all residents. I was also out there getting signatures in order for this town meeting to happen.

In all, we, the Concerned Citizens of Wilmington, received just under 1,600 signatures. Mike McCoy, on his own, got 845 signatures. That's amazing. This alone shows his dedication and love to Wilmington. On a personal note, Mike was supposed to have his hip replaced in October of 2017, but he delayed his surgery in order to help us. Once the special town meeting was over, as Michael was walking (limping) to his car, I noticed his wife helping him walk. I didn't want to bother him. Just three days after the special town meeting on Dec. 16, 2017, Mike had his left hip replaced and I went to visit with him at the Winchester Hospital. When I left his room, I realized something: while I'll be home celebrating the Christmas holidays and the New Year with my family, Mike will be recovering from surgery. He sacrificed his holidays and dealt with pain for months just to help our neighborhood and make our town a better place to live in. Today, he's unstoppable, stronger than ever and a force to be reckoned with.

There is no better choice for State Representative. My family and I are voting for Mike McCoy on Sept. 4, 2018.

Thank you,
Jim Buckley

State Rep candidate Robertson 'walks the walk'

To the editor,
We are writing to give our whole-hearted endorsement and support to David Robertson in his campaign for State Representative. Representative Miceli introduced us to Dave several years ago and we have always been impressed with Dave's attention to detail and follow through. Dave has never been someone who simply "talks the talk." Time and again, in our dealings with him, he has "walked the walk" and that is who we need to fill the gaping hole left by the loss of Rep. Miceli.

Dave was very much Rep. Miceli's right hand man. Who better to represent us at the State House than someone who has already sat in on the meetings, stood in the chambers, and seen firsthand how to effectively advocate for what is best for our community? When Dave talks about the issues facing us, he demonstrates a depth of knowledge and a plan of attack that is unique to him. He genuinely wants what is best for us and he is the only candidate that has the knowledge and the experience to get the job done at the State House on day one.

Finally, in getting to know Dave as a person, we are honored to consider him a friend. Dave is just a really good guy.

Have you ever seen the movie "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington?" That's what we think of when we think of Dave. He's a principled man who would do us proud. We know that he wants what is best for us, our children, and our parents. His words are his own and they come from the heart.

We ask all of our friends to help us in supporting David Robertson for State Representative and encourage everyone to make sure they are registered to vote, that they get an absentee ballot if they cannot vote in person at the primary, and that they come out strong at the primary in supporting our friend, David Robertson.

Golf tournament raises $10K for local charities

Dear editor:
On Monday, Aug. 13, 2018 the Tewksbury Lions Club held their 32nd annual Golf Tournament at Tewksbury Country Club. We were able to raise over $10K in support of our efforts to help local charities, blind people, people with vision issues and help folks with diabetes awareness. I would like to thank all the folks who came out to play golf and support our efforts on a less than perfect day.

A BIG thank you to Marc Ginsburg and the staff at Tewksbury Country Club for all their help and support.

Sincerely yours,

Newsprint tariff hurts us all

By ANDREW JOHNSON
(Publisher of the Dodge County (Wisconsin) Pioneer and Incoming President, National Newspaper Association)

It isn't that easy to drop everything in the middle of the week and fly to Washington. If you're a community newspaper publisher, going anywhere in the middle of the week is a challenge. That is when the newspaper has to be edited, wrapped up in color, printed, labeled and distributed to readers.

People in Mayville, Wisconsin, where I publish the Dodge County Pioneer, count on my paper. It is how they find out what is happening in town. We don't have a local TV station. Facebook and Google are here, but the internet has no journalists in my town.

That is why I did dropped everything one day in July, and flew to the nation's capital to testify before the International Trade Commission. It probably surprised my readers that international trade is important to my little weekly newspaper. But it is. In fact, this commission holds in its hands the future of local journalism in Mayville. It holds the same reins for the future of news and information in thousands of small towns across the U.S. I went to ask the commissioners to stop taxing our paper. This tax is hurting the Pioneer, its readers and Mayville.

The paper we print on is newsprint, known in the industry as uncoated groundwood paper. Most of it comes from Canada. Although there are five paper mills in the U.S. that make this paper, American newspapers have also used Canadian paper for more than a century. It simply isn't possible in the continental U.S. to make enough newsprint to supply the needs of U.S. newspaper readers.

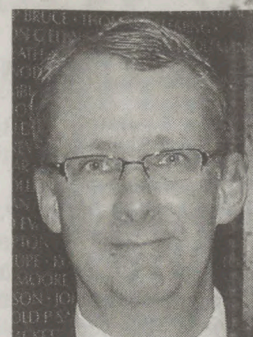

Last January, the Department of Commerce slapped

a tax, better known as a tariff, on this Canadian paper, and then hit it again in March. The government was responding to a lawsuit by a single paper mill, owned by a New York investment firm, alleging that the Canadian competition was affecting its profits. The ITC allowed the tax to stay in place while it investigates. For much of this year, American publishers have been receiving continual price increases from their printers, who have been trying all year to adjust to tariffs of more than 30 percent on the paper they use to print our editions. In early August, the federal government said the tariffs could be lowered somewhat in September, but they still would be about 20 percent. This newsprint price increase is very hard for small town newspapers to absorb.

It is the ITC that ultimately decides whether these tariffs will continue at all. Its job is to figure out whether tariffs would help U.S. producers. U.S. producers — the five U.S. mills — certainly face challenges. But those come from the fact that most large newspapers have dramatically cut back on paper usage. There is less demand for newsprint in the U.S., so lower prices have resulted. It is not unfair competition, but natural market forces, while digital editions take over the larger newspaper world that affects the papermakers. A tariff to punish Canada won't create more U.S. papermaking jobs. Larger publications will move faster to digital so they can buy less paper. Smaller ones like mine, will simply shrink and may go away entirely, leaving their towns with no local paper. This tariff just hurts the Pioneer, and newspapers like it.

The ITC will accept comments on this tax until Aug. 20. If you want to let the commissioners know what you think, you can find a contact form at www.usitc.gov.

State rep candidate Mike McCoy is the real McCoy

To the editor,
Dear editor and residents of the 19th Middlesex District, I am writing to express my sincere endorsement for Mike McCoy to represent this district in the Massachusetts State Legislature.

I'm casting my vote for Mike McCoy as our next state representative for Tewksbury and Wilmington. Mike McCoy is a doer—not a talker. Not only was he the first elected official to help my neighborhood in North Wilmington that was fighting against the opening of a detox center at 362 Middlesex Ave., but also he has helped ALL neighborhoods in our town.

I remember Mike was the only selectman to help those neighbors who were fighting against Global in South Wilmington. I remember Mike was the only selectman to speak out against Olin Chemical and New England Transrail when the Surface Transportation Board held its federal public hearing in Wilmington.

Mike is everywhere! He has been serving our town as a public official for over 30 years. Another reason why I'm impressed with Mike McCoy is that he does it all himself; he doesn't ask for financial donations and he doesn't ask for endorsements. All he'll ever ask for is our support on election day. Mike McCoy IS the real McCoy.

Finegold has delivered for Tewksbury as State Senator

To the editor,

I have personally known Barry Finegold for many years and consider him a friend. As an elected official in Tewksbury, I've also had an opportunity to work closely with him on my town's behalf. In short, Barry has always been a friend and colleague that I can count on.

When I needed to get something done for our town requiring state involvement, I knew I could pick up the phone and call Barry for assistance. I have no doubt that Barry will pick up where he left off as our state senator and continue to be a reliable advocate for Tewksbury and trusted partner for our town's leadership.

That experience matters now more than ever for many reasons. Barry is a hard worker who has delivered for our community in the past and I have no doubt he will do so again. Please join me in voting for Barry Finegold on Sept. 4. Make experience and commitment count.

Another successful Ice Bucket Challenge

To the editor,
The Wilmington Rotary Club would like to thank everyone who came to our Community Ice Bucket Challenge this past Saturday.

As with prior Ice Bucket Challenges, all participants came through wonderfully well. And we thank all who "Took the Challenge."

Special thanks to Jim Buckley, Rob Hayes of the Wilmington Apple, Tim Alberts, WHS Athletic Director, Tom Pazyra and Shaun Neville of WCTV, the Allepo Shrine, and the Wilmington Town Crier.

Thanks to the Wilmington High athletic teams and candidates for State Representative, Pina Prinzivalli, Erika Johnson, Mark Kratman, Judy O'Connell and David Robertson. The winner of the Red Sox/Cleveland Indians package was Angela Cairra.

As in the previous Ice Bucket Challenges, we are able to contribute 100 percent of the monies raised to the Angel Fund to be used for research into finding a cure for A. L. S., knowingly known as Lou Gehrig's disease.

If you weren't able to join us on Saturday but would like to contribute to this important cause, donations can be mailed to The Rotary Club of Wilmington, P.O. Box 503, Wilmington, MA. 01887 or on line to theangelfund.org.

Support O'Connell for election to state rep

To the editor,
I am writing to endorse the candidacy of Judy O'Connell for State Representative. I have had the privilege of knowing Judy since my days of coaching high school softball, where Judy embodied the qualities of a leader and a team player, excelling at most everything she did both on and off the field.

A Boston Globe All-Scholastic and a 1991 Honors graduate from Wilmington High School, Judy brought those same abilities and attributes to Merrimack College where she was an Academic and Athletic NCAA All-American helping her team capture the NCAA National Championship in women's softball. She has been inducted in the Wilmington High School and Northeast-10 Athletic Halls of Fame and was recently notified of her upcoming induction to the Merrimack College Hall of Fame.

Judy's success was not limited to the playing field. She graduating Cum Laude from Merrimack College in 1995 receiving a Bachelor of Science Degree in both Psychology and Sociology.

Judy has a wide range of experience in both the public and private sector. Her experience as a teacher and a small business owner offer her a unique and valuable perspective on many of the issues that face the residents of Tewksbury and Wilmington.

Born and raised in Willington, Judy epitomizes the values that are important to the residents of our district. Her commitment to public service is exemplified by her work as a member of the Wilmington School Committee where she served as Vice-Chair and as a two-term member of the Board of Selectmen where her colleagues twice elected her Chairman. As Chairman of the Yentile Farm Recreational project, her leadership skills were clearly evident as this widely acclaimed recreational center was constructed on time and under budget.

Judy has the experience, intellect and values that we need in our next State Representative. She knows how to engage residents in the governmental process and can work collaboratively with town officials. She is a good listener and she will work tirelessly to resolve issues important to our residents.

Judy has a strong command of the issues facing our towns. She is a dedicated, hard-working individual who cares deeply for both communities. Hers will be a strong voice on Beacon Hill always advocating in the best interest of the communities that she would be privileged to serve.

I hope you will join me in supporting the candidacy of Judy O'Connell for election to State Representative of the 19th Middlesex District.

Vote no on question 1

To the editor,
I am an ER nurse and I oppose Ballot Question 1. If this law passed, nurses would be prevented from treating people once we reached an arbitrary ratio of patients — no matter the condition of our current patients, how sick the new patient is, or our skill levels and expertise.

I don't know one staff nurse at my facility in favor of this mandate, but I know plenty who are opposing it. I think the public needs to know: the proponents are making it seem like you'd be helping nurses, but there would be many harmful consequences. This law is far too rigid, and would do a disservice to me and to you.

This law would take away the flexibility we need to provide safe care, which is dangerous for our patients. As a family member and potential patient myself, it makes me feel unsafe. No hospital, ER, or person is the same, yet this law would treat us as interchangeable.

I'm also alarmed by the timeline for implementation. When California adopted mandated ratios, they had years to implement them and even then, there has been no improvement to quality of care. This law gives us 37 business days. It would quite simply be impossible.

If we hire nurses with limited experience just to fill a mandated position, that is dangerous. Every nurse has a different background and set of experiences. I came to my current job with a few years of experience and still received a 10-week orientation — which is more time than this law gives us to fill thousands of nursing positions.

My ER is located by a major highway. If there is a multi-car pileup next to us but we are at capacity, do we have to send them elsewhere? The legislation does not address issues like this. Someone could have a massive heart attack in our waiting room and we could struggle to legally treat them right away. No nurse wants to do that, which means we'd be fined up to 25,000 dollars per violation — the "violation" being saving a life. Hospitals and patients are going to have pay for the exorbitant costs, which is horrible. Healthcare is expensive enough.

As a nurse working at the bedside in a busy ER, I ask you to vote NO on Question 1 in November.

Kratman an asset to Tewksbury and Wilmington

To the editor,
Mark Kratman has served Tewksbury well over the years and always had our best interests at heart. I worked closely with Mark on both the Wilmington and Tewksbury Chamber of Commerce and The Tewksbury Economic Development Committee; he is always available and willing to help with any issues that face our town. He is a tremendous asset to our community and continues to be a strong advocate for our small business community.

Mark met with businesses that expressed interest in doing business in Tewksbury and was among the first town officials to encourage them to move in and help them navigate our Town Government to acquire all necessary permitting. During his two terms as the Chairman of the Tewksbury Economic Development Committee, he worked with our town officials to improve town website and solicited Amazon and Lowell General Hospital to do business in Tewksbury. Mark understands the positive affects small businesses can have on our taxes and will continue to be a strong advocate for small business in both Tewksbury and Wilmington.

The citizens of this district need someone like Mark who is not afraid to speak out on key issues that affect us all. Someone who was endorsed by the late Jim Miceli and knows his way around Beacon Hill.

I hope my fellow citizens will join me on Tuesday, Sept. 4 in voting for Mark Kratman for State Representative.

Senate candidate Finegold fair, honest and trustworthy

To the editor,
I am so pleased to write this letter in support of Barry Finegold, Candidate for State Senate, representing Andover, Dracut, Lawrence and Tewksbury.

Barry Finegold is a candidate that is fair, honest and trustworthy and I am giving him my full consideration as our State Senator.

Finegold was an early supporter of the new Tewksbury High School Project, he was active in securing funds for the new Dracut High School Project, and he is a huge supporter of education. Finegold is aggressive in securing funding for Public Safety. He was instrumental in improving Massachusetts Election Laws.

Barry Finegold has fresh ideas and impressive energy. His emphasis is responding to the needs of the communities he will represent.

Let us use good judgment and elect Barry Finegold as our State Senator.

Please join me in voting for Barry Finegold for State Senator on Tuesday, Sept. 4.

Polls open at 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Robertson 'a good man who will do a good job'

To the editor,
I fully support and endorse David A. Robertson for the office of State Representative for Tewksbury and Wilmington. I have known David for approximately 10 years. He is energetic, a hard worker and has experienced how the House of Representatives works. David is compassionate, honest and is the bearer of much integrity.

David always followed through on helping the constituents of Tewksbury and Wilmington while employed by Representative Miceli. As Jim's "right hand man," he did much of the footwork and gained knowledge and insight on the role of a Representative.

David went everywhere with Jim and made many important contacts. David knows what is expected of a Representative and is both eager and prepared to fill this significant role. He has been exceptional in helping many of the residents of Tewksbury and Wilmington, both the youth and the older residents.

He is reachable and can communicate with all types of people regardless of their age and their circumstances. A truly educated person is one that can relate and converse with all people; and in doing so, succeeds in helping where it is needed.

As the former Director of the Tewksbury Council on Aging and an elected officer of the Tewksbury Housing Authority, I have experienced David's character and his diligence in helping people during his time as Jim's Chief of Staff; and, I feel, in my heart, that Jim would be so happy and proud to see David Robertson elected as State Representative. I can't count the number of times when Jim had nothing but the highest praise for David Robertson. I remember Jim telling a story of how he wasn't going to hire David because "he was too tall" but admitted that it was the best thing he ever did!

With that said, I encourage my fellow senior citizens and our younger community residents of Tewksbury and Wilmington to vote during the primary, Tuesday, Sept. 4, for DAVID ROBERTSON as the Democratic candidate for the office of State Representative. DAVID ROBERTSON IS A GOOD MAN WHO WILL DO A GOOD JOB!

Sincerely,
Linda Ricardo-Brabant

Kratman has strong record of listening to constituents

Dear editor,
Writing as the former editor of this newspaper, I was disappointed to see that the Crier not only published a strictly negative attack letter on a candidate in the 19th Middlesex State Representative race, but stated that the letter writer, Laurie Guarino, lives in Tewksbury. When pressed on the matter, since there is no record of that person in Tewksbury, the editor admitted to Mark Kratman that the author no longer lives in the area.

Since when do we publish attacks on any person, public or private, with a false letter? Guarino states: "I urge my fellow residents..." and "made my choice to vote for someone else" but she is not a resident, and was never registered to vote in Tewksbury under that name, if at all. Guarino won't be voting in Tewksbury in this election — and this newspaper was aware of that fact and printed the letter anyway. If the editor came to understand this after publication, as can happen, he should have written a correction in a subsequent edition, but that has not been forthcoming.

As to the content of that letter, Mr. Kratman has stated in numerous articles that he does not support legislation that establishes sanctuary states. While Mark is proud of his endorsement of State Senator L'Italien, he is equally proud of his endorsement from State Representative Dave Nangle, as well as numerous local and state labor unions, local business owners, and particularly, voters along the political spectrum.

Over my decade with the Town Crier I worked with and wrote about nearly everyone in this race. Most have been long time residents and active in our towns. Each is to be commended for their individual service to their communities and for stepping up to run for this seat — being a candidate is not easy and I have great respect for those that run an honorable campaign. However, Mr. Kratman has been among the most dedicated public servants I've been privileged to meet in either community. As editor, I covered his first campaign for Tewksbury Selectman in 2015 and later worked with him on numerous local initiatives.

Mr. Kratman is his own man, he has a strong record of listening to his constituents and working cooperatively with his fellow board members and other committees, and he doesn't compromise his integrity for political expediency. He has demonstrated and articulated a positive, inclusive vision for the future of our communities, and the ability to get the work done.

I encourage voters to join with me in electing Mark Kratman in the Sept. 4 primary election and choose a strong voice for Wilmington and Tewksbury on Beacon Hill.

Sincerely,
Jayne Wellman Miller

Abbott returns following intensive research project

WORCESTER — Zachary Abbott of Wilmington, a member of the class of 2019 majoring in civil engineering at Worcester Polytechnic Institute (WPI), was a member of a student team that recently completed an intense, hands-on research through the WPI project center in Paraguay. The project was titled Using Technology to Improve Learning in Cerrito.

In their project summary, the students wrote, "The team identified potential applications that instructors could use to enhance their pedagogies and student learning."

At WPI, all undergraduates are required to complete a research-driven, professional-level project that applies science and technology to addresses an important societal need or issue. About two-thirds of students complete a project at one of the university's 40-plus off-campus project centers, which are located around the world.

A signature element of the innovative undergraduate experience at WPI, the project-based curriculum offers students the opportunity to apply their scientific and technical knowledge to develop thoughtful solutions to real problems that affect the quality of people's lives and make a difference before they graduate. "The WPI project-based curriculum's focus on global studies brings students out of the classroom and their comfort zones and into the global community to apply their knowledge to solve real problems," said Professor Kent Rissmiller, interim dean of the WPI Interdisciplinary and Global Studies Division. "Students are immersed in all aspects of a different culture, from the way people live and work to the values they hold to the foods they eat — all valuable perspectives for surviving and thriving in today's global marketplace. They also learn the meaning and magic of teamwork; make a real and meaningful difference in their host community; and gain a competitive edge for any resume, or graduate or professional school application."

There are more than 40 WPI project centers throughout the Americas, Africa, Asia-Pacific, and Europe.

Reliv International is the leader in nutritional epigenetics that has been around for thirty years and has a line of effective nutritional supplements from patented scientific formulas. It is a food science company that has the exclusive rights to lunasin.

Lunasin is the first dietary compound with an identifiable epigenetic mechanism of action. This mechanism was identified by Dr. Alfredo Galvez in 1996 and patented in 1999. Since its discovery, scientists have identified lunasin's many health benefits it has by repairing the damaged DNA helix. That is what is causing all of these chronic diseases-damage to the DNA helix.

Epigenetics is a new and revolutionary science that is explaining how life styles, life experiences and exposures directly affect gene expression without mutating the physical DNA structure.

The focus of nutritional epigenetics is to identify how specific dietary compounds such as vitamins, minerals, phytonutrients, and bioactives affect your genes and overall health. Back in May of 2014, Channel 5 news did a segment on Reliv, Dr. Galvez, nutritional epigenetics and a gentleman with ALS who could not speak or move. That same gentleman was featured in a Wall Street Journal article on June 13, 2016 under the guise of the mystery of ALS patients seeing improvements. In March of 2016, Dr. Galvez was invited to talk to Harvard medical researchers about the science of nutritional epigenetics. Now Harvard is conducting multiple clinical trials on all sorts of chronic diseases with Reliv.

This revolutionary science is taking the medical community by storm. The body is recognizing this natural peptide, lunasin, as a non-threatening entity and allowing it to go into each cell. Once the lunasin molecule enters the cell it goes right to work repairing the damaged DNA helix by switching "bad" genes off and "good" genes on.

Reliv products are helping people with addictions, allergies, ALS, arthritis, asthma, autism, cancer (cells can no longer divide), cholesterol reduction without statin drugs, chronic pain, Crohn's disease, cystic fibrosis, diabetes (type 2), lupus, fibromyalgia, Lyme disease, mental health issues (such as depression, PTSD, schizophrenia), MS, Parkinson's disease, prostate issues, skin health, staph infections, strokes, ulcerative colitis, vision issues, woman's issues, weight loss and much more.

Our products are designed to provide optimal balanced nutrition and to target specific wellness needs. If you would like to discuss your health issues I can be reached at 978-851-2519.

Alateen
The first and third Thursday of each month
St Williams Church (middle brick building), 1351 Main Street in Tewksbury
When there is evidence of alcoholism or drug use in a family, you can see the effects on the other family members, especially young people. Alateen meetings provide mutual support for young people affected by someone else's drinking and drug use. Come speak with teens who know exactly how you feel. The meetings are confidential and a safe place to share experiences, strength, and hope with each other; discuss difficulties; learn effective ways to cope with problems; encourage one another; help each other understand the principles of the Al-Anon program; and learn how to use the Twelve Steps and Alateen's Twelve Traditions. Letters to the editor

McCoy has 'right stuff' to be next state rep

To the editor,
Mike McCoy has the "Right Stuff" to be our next State Representative. He proved it to the folks of North Wilmington. A local developer wanted to construct a detox center for those unfortunate people afflicted with drug and alcohol substance abuse issues.

While this is a praise-worthy undertaking, it was a bad idea on two levels. The detox center would abut a residential neighborhood. The collateral problems and safety concerns for the families and children were all too real for this peaceful residential area. The second reason this location is a bad choice for a detox facility: the environment is not conducive for recovery. There is a bar and liquor store across the street. The Middlesex Ave. location has considerable traffic noise.

To compound that the commuter rail is right next to the proposed location. There is plenty of noise and vibration due to that.

The residents were hoping to get support from our elected and appointed town officials. For the most part, our pleas fell on deaf ears with one selectman calling us NIMBYs (Not in My Back Yard).

Suddenly, Mike McCoy listened to our concerns and developed a solution that benefits both the victims of substance abuse and every neighborhood in Wilmington. Mike drafted a new by-law that provided a real "Win-Win"!

The new by-law opened up industrially zoned areas to medical and detox operations. When the old by-laws were first written in industrially zoned areas were noisy, polluted and totally unsuitable for health care.

However, today these large tracts of land are isolated and quiet making the perfect setting for health care facilities. Additionally, this by-law prohibits detox facilities from abutting residentially zoned areas. Unfortunately, for the families in North Wilmington this developer was, "Grandfathered-in." However, from this point on no other neighborhood in Wilmington will have this worry.

When most people face problematic situations they see disastrous results and distance themselves from the problem. Mike McCoy envisions opportunity and embraces the problem. This is exactly the type of innovative leadership we desperately need on Beacon-Hill!

Rick Connearey

State rep candidate O'Connell committed and dedicated

Dear Wilmington and Tewksbury residents,

On Sept. 4, 2018, I hope you take the time to head to the polls for the primaries to elect our new State Representative. When you head to cast your ballot I ask you to consider Judy O'Connell, the candidate who I am endorsing in this election.

I have been fortunate to experience the engagement that Judy O'Connell exerts towards projects she is committed to and I have observed the level of dedication she has given in public office to the Town of Wilmington, which has been exemplary. I find it to be important at times to step outside of one's comfort zone in life and this letter to the editor is certainly one of those moments for me.

I have spent a lot of time supporting various activities in Wilmington throughout the past 15 years and even though I tend stay out of the political arena, I did want to share my support of Judy O'Connell to be our State Representative.

I met Judy early on in life, as she played softball with my sister. Our paths did not cross again until roughly 10 years ago, when she had heard I was working on bringing Relay For Life to Wilmington.

I enjoyed working with her and many others in that inaugural year to bring a new tradition to the Town of Wilmington. Judy was there every step of the way and since then I have been impressed with all that she has done for our community through her tenure in the School Committee, Board of Selectmen, as a member of the WHS 4.0 committee, helping to champion the Yentile Farm Recreational project, and much more.

It isn't easy to please everyone in public political positions, but I have found that Judy always handles herself in a just and professional manner. She embodies the type of leader you want representing you in a public office: hardworking, reliable, diplomatic, compassionate, fair, reasonable, considerate, and practical.

Just one example of this was during her time as the chairman of the Yentile Farm Development Committee for the NEW Yentile Farm Recreational Facility. I was impressed by the way the community was pulled in to help provide feedback and recommendations in a public forum. I personally attended two of the sessions open to residents and everyone had an opportunity to provide input and feedback. Not only did these sessions provide residents with a forum to provide feedback, it also provided the Board of Selectmen to receive feedback from the community on other needs they felt were needed for the Town of Wilmington.

For more information on Judy O'Connell, go to www.judyforstaterrep.com and email or call her if you want to speak with her directly. She is committed to supporting the residents of our district, so when you go to vote on Sept. 4 vote for Judy O'Connell in the primaries.

Visit Forest River Park in Salem this summer

The beach at Forest River Park is a small beach, ideal for youngsters. The sand is pebbly so sandals or water shoes might be in order. The water is gentle at this back end of the harbor. (Paige Impink photo)

I had the occasion to spend some time in Salem this summer and discovered a beautiful spot worth a picnic, walk or just short diversion. While Salem is known for its witch museum, the shops and restaurants of Pickering Wharf, and the Salem Willows, it is also fortunate to have approximately 25 acres set aside along the ocean for Forest River Park. My hobby of letterboxing brought me to the park, and while it is undergoing some improvements to its parking lot, the harbor view and green grass is still worth the stroll. I could not get over the lush green trees, grassy knolls and fine paved walkway along the water.

The park, created in 1907, is in the midst of an upgrade, including new swimming pools and other amenities, but is open to the public and even has life-guards stationed at its small beach. There was no one there on a hot August weekday, but I am told it does get busy on the weekends as families use the picnic tables and youngsters enjoy the newly renovated playground.

Those who grew up in Salem or the surrounding area may be relieved to know that the concrete slide, constructed in 1943, is still intact. Tales of sliding down it on a piece of cardboard abound and please do bring your own if you plan to visit.

There are rocks to explore, shells to find, and unobstructed views of Marblehead, Salem Harbor, and Winter Island. So many boats are moored in the harbor, one blogger referred to it as a "boat parking lot!" The park is also the site of the Salem Pioneer Village, a reproduction 1630 living history museum which is closed during construction.

According to records, it is considered the first living history museum in the country. Fascinating and clearly an underpublicized gem - think Plimoth Plantation of the North Shore. Plans are being developed to either move the village to another part of Salem or renovate it, but it is still a bit visible through the construction fencing.

Some recent activity in the town has rumblings about its future; it was built in "1930 by the city to celebrate the Massachusetts tercentenary. The intent was to recreate Salem as it would have appeared at the time of John Winthrop's arrival in 1630," according to the Massachusetts Heritage Landscape Inventory Program.

The pool was originally a salt water swimming pool and is also part of a larger plan by the city which may include a splash pad. Right now the city is hoping for a 2020 reopening but a further engineering study must be done as restoration to the shoreline needs to be included, according to recent reports. The park is a popular spot for kayakers to put in from the gently sloping sandy beach.

Routes to Willows beach, Crowninshield Island and Derby Wharf are listed on the Salem Coast Watch website, though it was too windy the day I visited to see much kayak activity. Should you find yourself up on the North Shore, pop over to Forest River Park and soak in the view. Forest River Park, 32 Clifton St., Salem.

Doggone it! Try these places with your four-legged friend

By HEATHER BURNS
News Correspondent

Dogs have long been thought of as man's best friend, and more U.S. households own dogs than any other pet. According to the Harris Poll, a marketing research firm, 95 percent of pet owners consider their pets to be part of their family. Unfortunately, when the family unit feels like going out for a coffee, slice of pizza, or dinner out, the beloved four legged family member is usually left at home.

However, in the good summer weather, there is a surprising amount of area restaurants that have dog friendly outdoor seating. If your dog is well behaved and on a leash, many local businesses welcome man's best friend at their outdoor seating areas.

Is your pooch a "morning person?" Perfectos Cafe, 1900 Main St. Tewksbury, has six dog friendly sidewalk tables, and offers an array of specialty coffees and teas, baked goods and breakfast sandwiches. They also have a large selection of wraps and salads for the lunchtime crowd.

Ultimate Perk, 96 Main St. in Andover, also has sidewalk, cafe style seating for you and your dog, and offers a large selection of coffee, espresso, tea and freshly baked donuts and pastries.

If you and Rover are looking to catch a quick lunch, try Modash Cafe, 16 Upton Dr. #7 in Wilmington. Outdoor sidewalk tables welcome you and your pet to try their tempting selection of soups, sandwiches and wraps.

Tremonte Pizzeria, 112 Middle St. in Lowell, has a large outdoor, pet friendly dining area featuring authentic Neapolitan thin crust, hand tossed pizza.

Heritage Farm Ice Cream, also in Lowell at 163 Pawtucket Boulevard, not only offers homemade ice cream for kids and adults alike, they also offer a Pup Cup Sundae of vanilla soft serve ice cream with a dog bone cookie sure to please your pup. They also have a full menu for lunch and dinner including seafood, sandwiches and items from the grill.

Ample outdoor seating is situated across the street from the Merrimack River Park. After your meal, you and your pup can walk off that ice cream sundae on the paved, tree lined River Walk and enjoy the scenic Merrimack River.

Do you and your hound enjoy an evening out? Cafe Sicilla, 1300 Main St. Tewksbury, has outdoor, dog friendly patio seating, with live music on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights (weather permitting). They offer old world Italian flavor in traditional pasta dishes, sandwiches, salads, and bakery items.

Jon Ryan's Pub, also in Tewksbury at 1795 Main St., has 10 outdoor, dog friendly tables offering lunch and dinner of traditional favorite pub foods with a full bar.

You and your favorite Irish Setter may want to try the Emerald Rose, 785 Boston Road, Billerica. They welcome well behaved pets at their outdoor dining tables, and offer a new twist on traditional comfort foods, as well as traditional Irish favorites.

The Yella Grill, 16 Post Office Ave. in Andover is a modern mediterranean restaurant featuring a large dog friendly, outdoor patio in the heart of downtown Andover. After dinner, you and your pet can take a stroll down the quaint sidewalks of the downtown area.

If you and your canine feel more adventurous, try Blue Taleh, 15 Kearney Square in Lowell. They offer Thai and Japanese cuisine with a large vegetarian selection. Reservations can be made for the non pet indoor seating, but the dog friendly, outdoor seating along the scenic canal is a first come, first serve basis.

It doesn't matter if your tail wagger is a pedigree or a lovable mutt, as long as your pet is well behaved in public, friendly, and leash trained, you and your four legged family member can enjoy eating "al fresco" in the late summer and fall as long as the good weather lasts.

TEWKSBURY — This week, in front of Dandi-Lyons, Representative Geoff Diehl, the endorsed Republican candidate for U.S. Senate, announced that he has received the endorsement of Representatives Jim Lyons (R-Andover), Marc Lombardo (R-Billerica), and Lenny Mirra (R-West Newbury).

"I am proud to have the endorsements of Representatives Jim Lyons, Marc Lombardo and Lenny Mirra. They have been great leaders on fighting for fiscal accountability, requiring transparency at the State House, working to end the opioid epidemic and standing up for victims. Lyons' strong support will help us win Andover, Tewksbury, and surrounding communities," said Diehl.

"I have had the honor of working with Geoff for seven years. He is an extremely hard worker who will put Massachusetts first — unlike the incumbent Senator," said Lyons. "I admire his determination to take on the special interest groups to repeal automatic gas tax hikes to save taxpayers billions of dollars."

Diehl and Lyons have worked together on numerous important issues at the State House including stopping the loophole allowing illegal immigrants to get a drivers license, requiring more transparency in the legislative process, fighting bad judges, and protecting families' rights.

"Geoff is the only candidate with serious plans on fighting the opioid epidemic, helping our veterans and growing our economy. It will be a huge benefit for our community and the people of Massachusetts if Geoff is elected our next Senator," said Lyons.

"Over the past five years I have watched Geoff work tirelessly. He is a committed advocate for hard working taxpayers and small businesses that create new jobs," said Mirra. "I know that Geoff will do even more for the taxpayers in Washington."

Diehl has a great connection to the area, having worked side by side with so many on the successful ballot question. Diehl has toured area businesses including Schneider Electric. Diehl plans to use his RV as a mobile office so area residents don't have to travel to Boston to see their Senator.

"Warren has failed to help Massachusetts taxpayers. We need a Senator who will stand up for the hard working people of Massachusetts. While Senator Warren has focused on putting money in her wallet selling books, I have focused on putting money into your wallet," added Diehl.

"Massachusetts is too great for a part-time Senator. We need a Senator who will focus on the citizens of the Commonwealth," said Diehl. "From the time you wake up in the morning and until you go to bed in the evening you should be working to help the people of Massachusetts. I think people should come first ahead of oneself. Our Senator needs to do their job by putting you first!"

Diehl is disappointed with Sen. Warren who is more focused on her national profile rather than working in the best interest of Massachusetts. One key example of this, Diehl pointed out, was how she voted against the 21st Century Cures Act.

"If she cared about our state, she wouldn't have voted against a bipartisan measure to promote medical innovation and the development of new treatments for cancer and other diseases. Massachusetts is a medical research leader and she still voted against the bill," said Diehl. "Moreover, Warren would not have voted to shut down government."

Yesterday the Boston Herald endorsed Diehl's candidacy for his work for standing up to the taxpayers and for being the strongest candidate to challenge Warren.

Diehl won the Republican convention by a 30 point margin. He has been earning many endorsements including: the Watertown Republican Town Committee, the Hanson Republican Town Committee, the Bourne Republican Town Committee, the East Bridgewater Republican Town Committee, the Dighton Republican Town Committee, Boston Ward 9 Republican Committee, the Somerville Republican City Committee, the Whitman Republican Town Committee, the Dracut Republican Town Committee, Representatives David DeCoste, Marc Lombardo, Lenny Mirra, Shaunna O'Connell, Nick Boldyga and Peter Durant, Youth Conservatives of Massachusetts, all of the Sudbury delegates to the convention, former New England Patriots Fred Smerlas, Steve Grogan, and Matt Light, Red Sox Champion Curt Schilling, comedian Lenny Clark and broadcaster John Dennis, to name a few.

Diehl was the first candidate to receive a major law enforcement endorsement. The Norfolk County Correction Officers have thrown their weight behind Diehl.

Advocates applaud voter registration reform

BOSTON — With Governor Charlie Baker's signature, Massachusetts became the 14th state to adopt a system of Automatic Voter Registration, which could add up to 700,000 eligible citizens who are not currently registered to the voter rolls.

Originally introduced by Sen. Cynthia Creem and the late Rep. Peter Kocot, the legislation passed the House resoundingly in June and the Senate unanimously last month. The conference committee report resolving the differences between the two bills was enacted in the last days of the legislative session.

Advocates applauded the reform, which will make elections more accurate, more secure, and more available to all. It establishes a system for eligible citizens to automatically register to vote when they interact with the Registry of Motor Vehicles, MassHealth, or the Health Connector.

"We are thrilled with the legislation," said Pam Wilmot, Executive Director of Common Cause Massachusetts, which led the broad-based coalition pushing for the bill. "It is one of the strongest in the country and will make our voter registrations system more efficient, accurate, and secure while at the same time improving voter participation. In these times, all of these goals are particularly important. Many thanks to House Speaker Robert DeLeo, Senate Presidents Spilka and Chandler, and the conferees who championed the bill: Representatives Michael Moran, John Mahoney, and Shawn Dooley, and Senators Cynthia Creem, Anne Gobi, and Ryan Fattman."

The legislation has enjoyed broad support in both legislative chambers and both parties. Attorney General Maura Healey and Secretary of State Bill Galvin are also supporters. The legislation was endorsed by 65 organizations including environmental, civil rights, consumer, community, labor, and good government groups.

13 states and the District of Columbia have already passed automatic voter registration: Alaska, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Georgia, Illinois, Maryland, New Jersey, Oregon, Rhode Island, Vermont, Washington, and West Virginia. A report based on data from Oregon, Vermont, and Colorado concluded that the cost of implementing AVR in Massachusetts would be minimal.

"This is about more people having access to the ballot when election day comes around, plain and simple," said Carol Rose, Executive Director at the ACLU of Massachusetts. "It's a great step forward for anyone who believes that voting is a fundamental right, and our government should use all available tools to engage people in the democratic process."

"Congratulations to all the 'Champions of Democracy.' Massachusetts has now taken the right step in passing a critical reform that will expand not only the opportunity for more people to have a voice but also the benefit of being a voter," added Executive Director of MassVOTE Cheryl Clyburn Crawford. "This is a huge step in securing future generations a more free and fair democracy."

"This is a home run for democracy," declared Janet Domenitz, Executive Director of MASSPIRG. "The push for this law has gone many innings, but now we all win."

"Automatic Voter Registration is a huge win for the people of Massachusetts. Democracy works best when it works for everyone, and AVR will help our democracy work better for more people. The League is proud to have been part of the coalition driving this effort," said Meryle Kessler, Executive Director of the League of Women Voters of Massachusetts.

"Automatic Voter Registration makes our democracy more inclusive for all eligible voters. This is an important step toward expanding and diversifying the electorate of Massachusetts," said Beth Huang, Executive Director of the Massachusetts Voter Table.

Jonathan Cohn of Progressive Massachusetts added: "Our democracy is strongest when everyone's voice is able to be heard. Automatic voter registration is a simple reform, but it can have a huge impact on engaging new voters in the democratic process."

The Election Modernization Coalition is led by Common Cause Massachusetts, the League of Women Voters of Massachusetts, ACLU of Massachusetts, MASSPIRG, MassVOTE, the Massachusetts Voter Table, and Progressive Massachusetts.

Baker-Polito
convene school
safety roundtable

BURLINGTON — Governor Charlie Baker, Lt. Governor Karyn Polito, Education Secretary James Peyser, Health and Human Services Secretary Marylou Sudders, Public Safety and Security Secretary Daniel Bennett, and Department of Elementary and Secondary Education Commissioner Jeff Riley joined several school superintendents, teachers, police chiefs, mental health experts and local legislators at Burlington High School to discuss efforts the Commonwealth can take to improve safety in schools.

During the roundtable, the Governor spoke with local officials about the $72 million school safety package he filed last month, which was the result of input from many stakeholders, including several superintendents and mental health experts that participated in today's discussion. The Administration started working on the safety initiatives immediately after the Parkland, Florida school shooting that killed 17 students and teachers in February. The roundtable was also an opportunity for school officials and local law enforcement to have an open dialogue about school safety, and discuss what they are doing locally to keep students safer.

"These proposals will allow schools to hire additional mental health professionals to increase support for our students, while also making important security upgrades," said Governor Charlie Baker. "We look forward to working with the Legislature to enact this package to make the Commonwealth's schools safer."

"Through access to new school safety training resources, we can teach students and teachers to better recognize potential threats," said Lt. Governor Karyn Polito. "By working together, we can all ensure safer places for our kids to grow and learn."

Governor Baker proposed a wide-ranging $72 million package to make school security upgrades, hire additional mental health professionals and train first responders to better handle threats within schools. The proposal includes $40 million in additional aid to school districts to hire social workers, mental health counselors and psychologists, and $20 million in matching state grants for security and communications upgrades in K-12 schools and public colleges and universities.

"The sad reality is that we have to think about protecting our students and teachers from the threat of gun violence in the classroom. By strengthening student supports, as well as upgrading security measures and training for school personnel, we hope to reduce the possibility that we could experience a tragedy like other communities across the country have suffered," Education Secretary James Peyser said. "I am very grateful for the expertise and insights of the school superintendents and public safety officials that helped us develop these very important initiatives."

"Our schools face increasing challenges with changing dynamics in our society. Most importantly, our first priority is to provide for the safety and well-being of our students," said Tom Scott, executive director of the Massachusetts' Association of School Superintendents. "School superintendents are most appreciative that the Governor has responded to our concerns that increased mental health and security measures are essential needs in our schools today."

"Efforts to address school safety must also include strengthening behavioral health services for our youth," said Health and Human Services Secretary Marylou Sudders. "Governor Baker's proposal increases behavioral health treatment, coordination and prevention efforts in schools throughout the Commonwealth by providing increased aid to school districts to hire additional social workers, mental health counselors and psychologists."

"Massachusetts' strong gun laws mean we have one of the lowest rates of gun violence in the nation, but there is always more that we can do to reduce, the chances that students in our schools will fall victim to such a sickening event," said Secretary of Public Safety and Security Daniel Bennett. "Governor Baker's proposal would enhance the safety of our students by providing grants to improve security in school buildings, as well as giving educators, health officials, and first responders the training they would need in an active shooter situation."

"Prioritizing students' health, well-being and safety is essential to ensure we provide our teachers with thriving learning environments and Governor Baker gets that," said Elementary and Secondary Commissioner Jeff Riley. "The resources he has proposed for schools are carefully targeted to have the most beneficial result for our school communities — teachers, students and their families."

The package also includes:

- $2.4 million to create a tip line to provide public safety and school personnel with timely information on potential risks.

- $2 million for a statewide "Say Something" campaign.

- $1 million for school safety training for educators, health officials, and first responders.

- $750,000 for the Safe and Supportive Schools Initiative.

- $500,000 for sharing best practices in emergency planning, threat assessment, and rapid response.

- $500,000 to create a school safety website.

Under the legislation, each superintendent would report annually to the Department of Secondary and Elementary confirming whether they have a multi-hazard evacuation plan in place, as required by state law. In addition, they would report on any trainings, exercises, or simulations related to the plan that were conducted in the prior year.

Communication in this context is challenging but important. Beyond just speaking and listening, it should involve understanding.

"Ever since the 2016 elections, we have received messages from people all over the country about what's happening," she stated.

Families, church groups, and work place groups disagree and are stressed to new levels.

"There appears to be a threat to decency and the way we live together."

Her talk will address the causes and an understanding of how the country got here. Technology and social media are part of it.

"But the majority of the night will address what we can do about it," she stated.

She will discuss some tools to help, and she will share success stories of how they have worked in other communities and situations.

"There are signs of hope," she reported.

Lukensmeyer was quick to praise the Wilmington library leadership for their month-long initiative.

"We need highly trusted organizations to lead the way and address the problem," she said.

Tina Stewart, Library Director, explained, "The Revive Civility initiative demonstrates how the library's role has shifted from a passive distributor of books to being a change agent by addressing issues of concern to the community."

She added, "Given the acknowledged polarization and lack of civility we are seeing today, we hope Revive Civility will heighten awareness of the importance of treating people well and provide an opportunity to learn how to improve our own behavior as well as how to respond appropriately to uncivil behavior."

such proposals, but rather than establish a policy, have "...looked at each individual case on its merits."

Some criteria that Hull suggested may be taken into account for future proposals are the size of investment the company is planning to make, the number of new employees the company plans to bring in and retain, and the type of business the company proposes to bring to town.

"At this point, I would recommend... that the town not take any action with respect to establishing a particular policy," said Hull.

Board Chairman Kevin Cairra suggested that the personnel analyzing future cases be kept consistent with the one already established.

"I would also agree that having the same committee make it up makes sense," Cairra said.

Hull agreed, and cited the "diversity of knowledge" on the current subcommittee. There is no known proposal in the pipeline at this point in time. However, with the recent success of the Analog Devices plan, which will bring the company $4.3 million in property tax relief in addition to waived permit fees, it is certainly conceivable that another large-scale employer in town will make a similar request at some point.

red by a lapse in service. Town Manager Jeff Hull cited $1,192,297 as the annual cost of collection at an Aug. 13 meeting of the Board of Selectmen.

This comes on the heels of a decision made by the town last spring to assist Russell in bearing a portion of the newly increased disposal cost, which is currently around $100 per ton.

"We became aware that in mid-June that they were not going to be able to provide a bond and so shortly after July 1 I issued a letter to the company indicating that they were in breach of the contract and needed to provide us with a bond by a date certain," said Hull.

According to Hull, a company representative said they were looking for another company to provide a bond, but would not be ready by the date cited in the letter. Hull stated that he in turn asked Russell to either provide a sum of money in an account town can access, or provide suggestions regarding how town can assure security in contract.

Hull added that financial complications could arise from simply terminating the contract and entering a new one. These would include an obligation to pay the current prevailing wage, rather than the rate set several years ago in accordance with the Russell contract. In addition, the town would have to provide 100 percent of material costs, while it is currently providing approximately 50 percent.

"I'm hoping that we can work with Russell and reach some kind of a solution to this issue," Hull said.

Hull clarified that there is currently no interruption of service, and that, upon the request of Selectman Jonathan Eaton, updates would continue to be provided at future meetings.

For State Representative

Seniors Built Our Community

They built our roads, our schools, and our homes. Now they need our support as they rightfully relax and enjoy retirement. As State Representative I will take a stand on their behalf by supporting an increase in senior housing, shuttle services for those who need transportation assistance, and vibrant, active community centers. Our seniors made our towns what they are today, and we owe them our support for doing so.

"As a candidate with prior municipal government experience, Judy is focused on supporting education and particularly special education initiatives, veterans' affairs, elderly services, combating the opioid crisis, smart economic development, infrastructure improvements such as roads, bridges, transportation and sidewalks, public safety and taxes to name a few. The residents of the 19th Middlesex District would be incredibly fortunate to have Judy representing them at the state level."

~Jennifer Bryson, Wilmington School Committee Member

"Judy is a person of character and ethics. Judy's honesty, integrity and tenacity are the qualities that we the residents of Tewksbury & Wilmington need to represent us in the State House."

~Mark Donovan, Tewksbury Resident

"We are pleased to announce our endorsement and support of Judy O'Connell for State Representative for the 19th Middlesex District. Ms. O'Connell has strong community ties and shares the values and beliefs of our organization."

~Wilmington Firefighters IAFF L1370

"I have known and worked with Judy for many years, as a resident, a town official, and an advocate for veterans. She is exactly the kind of person that I want to represent me at the State House."

~Louis Cimaglia IV, Director of Wilmington Veteran Services & Former Selectman

"As her colleague on the Board of Selectmen, I was continuously impressed with her level of commitment and compassion for all residents. I am grateful for her continued support of Wilmington's substance-abuse coordinator position to help individuals and families who are battling addiction. Judy has a proven and impressive record of public service."

~Greg Bendel, Wilmington Selectman

"What distinguishes Judy from many other public officials is her commitment to listening. This enables her to size up a problem and formulate a plan of action which is not only responsive, but which actually accomplishes something. As the Chairperson of the Yentile Farm Committee, she successfully led the committee and the Town in a collective effort to bring one of our most successful capital improvement projects to fruition, on time and on budget."

~Michael J. Newhouse, Former Wilmington Selectman

"This is an opportunity to elect someone who will and should be an independent thinker, who cares for all the people she represents. Judy has shown her knowledge, patience and cooperation in listening to all with concerns, caring until a good judgment was reached for all involved and the town. These skills will be carried on once she is our next State Representative."

Wilmington resident named head track coach at Merrimack College

NORTH ANDOVER, Mass. - Mark Connolly, who has provided guidance for the men's and women's track and field programs since their ascension to varsity status eight years ago, has been named head coach after serving that role in an interim capacity over the past season.

A native of Andover, Massachusetts, Connolly resides in nearby Wilmington with his wife, Becky, and their two children, Joseph and Fiona.

Connolly, who helped build both programs from the ground up when he began his tenure as an assistant coach back in 2010, becomes the third head coach in school history. He has played a major role in recruiting and coaching six All-Americans, a six-time national champion, and many more New England and Northeast-10 Conference champions over that span while leading both teams to tremendous success as part of a historic 2017-18 campaign.

"Mark has done an outstanding job developing our student-athletes," stated Director of Athletics Jeremy Gibson. "He is well respected throughout the track and field community and has been instrumental in bringing a series of events to Merrimack's recently constructed track and stadium."

"I am very excited and honored to be named head coach of the Merrimack College track and field program," said Connolly. "I have enjoyed every aspect of being involved with these student-athletes over the past eight years. From the early seasons where our success was measured a bit differently, to now where we have been fortunate to have some incredibly skilled young men and women who have the ability to make noise on a national scale, as well as a wonderful new facility that will only take us to new heights. I am proud to have the opportunity to continue to support the growth and development of so many amazing student-athletes. We have a staff of knowledgeable, experienced coaches and a fantastic strength and conditioning team who work with our student-athletes tirelessly to allow each of them to maximize his or her potential. I can't wait for what the future has in store for our program!"

During the 2017-18 season, Connolly helped usher in a new era for the program when Merrimack Stadium opened last fall, representing the program's first home facility that gave the nearly 100 student-athletes between both teams the capability to train and compete on campus. Connolly scheduled and ran the first-ever home meet during the outdoor season, which saw many of the program's alumni return to campus for a momentous occasion while supporting the current Warriors.

Several Warriors garnered significant individual accolades this past season, headlined by two All-Americans, 10 conference champions and a New England champion. Merrimack also enjoyed top-five team finishes at three out of the four conference championship meets it competed in over the course of the year, as well.

Prior to his arrival at Merrimack, Connolly coached at Lynn English High School, where he focused on sprint and field events. He is a USATF Level 1 Certified coach who has served for six years as coach and clinic instructor in the summer youth program for Merrimack Valley Striders Running Club and Going the Distance.

Connolly is a 1987 graduate of the College of the Holy Cross, where he majored in Economics. He holds an MBA from Boston College's Carroll School of Business. Connolly was a captain of the 1987 Crusaders' indoor and outdoor track teams and held the Holy Cross school record in the 500 meters for 21 years.

Smith takes part in prestigious Old-Time Baseball Game

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com
CAMBRIDGE – The list of players who wanted to play in last Thursday's 25th Annual Old Time Baseball Game at St. Peter's Field would fill countless all-star rosters, as players from all over New England annually vie for the opportunity to play in what has become a summer tradition for both local players as well as celebrities.

Among the great players and celebrities suiting up in the classic uniforms for last Thursday's game was one local star, recent Wilmington High graduate Graham Smith. Smith, a three-sport star for the Wildcats, who was an All-Star centerfielder for the Wildcats this past season, while also quarterbacking the football team to an 8-3 record and starring at guard for the basketball team, was asked to play after meeting with Steve Buckley of the Boston Herald in the days leading up to last season's Thanksgiving Day football game against Tewksbury.

Buckley, one of the organizers of the Old Time Baseball Game, was meeting with Smith and his mother Deb prior to the game to discuss not only Graham's outstanding senior season, but also Deb's courageous two year battle against breast cancer.

The Old Time Baseball Game annually raises thousands of dollars for charity, including the American Heart Association this year, and Buckley felt that Smith would be a perfect candidate to play in the prestigious game.

"Mr. Buckley interviewed my mother and I for the Thanksgiving Day paper, and he told me that I should sign up for it," Smith said. "It was a perfect event for a kid with my story."

Smith, who has found out first hand what it is like to have a family member battling an illness, was proud to take part in such a special event, not just for the baseball, but for the great cause it was supporting.

"It was a great night and was for a great cause," Smith said. "It was an honor to be selected to represent Wilmington High and Wilmington High Baseball in the event!"

As for the night it certainly lived up to expectations, as Smith got to play in front of a capacity crowd at St. Peter's Field against some great players. Not surprisingly, Smith made an immediate impact once he was in the game, playing centerfield from the fourth through seventh inning for the visiting team. While he struck out swinging in his first at bat, he had an infield single in his second trip, stole second base and then came around to score the game tying run on a single.

Smith played on the same team as Boston Bruins legend Ray Bourque, as well as his sons Chris and Ryan Bourque, along with Matt Harris and Jack Harris, the sons of Steve Harris, the former Boston Herald columnist in whose memory the game was being played.

Smith was able to meet some of the celebrity participants and came away impressed with how down to earth they were.

"I got to meet Lou Merloni and Ray Bourque, the other three celebrities were too busy running around signing autographs and all that," Smith said. "It was very humbling just realizing that they are just regular people just like us, just a little bit more talented."

Beyond just the celebrities, the entire atmosphere of the game was something Smith will never forget.

"People started filing in around 5:30 for a 7:00 pm game, it seemed like a major league game going on in this small park in the middle of Cambridge, people mesmerized to every pitch and little kids running up to each player asking for autographs," Smith said. "It was truly amazing to be there in the game for all of that."

While Thursday night was a lot of fun and was the experience of a lifetime for Smith, he is looking forward to playing in some much more intense games come the spring when he suits up for Franklin Pierce, where he will soon begin his freshman year. Smith knows that he will take his game to an even higher level than he did at Wilmington High, but he is looking forward to the challenge of taking on some great college players.

"I've never been more excited about playing for a university like Franklin Pierce," Smith said. "All the talent that comes out of the school, has given me a great chance for me to see where I fit in with all these ball players from all over."

Wingate, Irish, win season opener

NOTRE DAME, Ind. – The youth was on full display for No. 14 University of Notre Dame women's soccer in their 3-1 season opening victory over Central Michigan. The Irish utilized two goals from sophomore Eva Hurm and one from freshman Brooke VanDyck to not only garner win No. 1 on the year, but also the first at Notre Dame for head coach Nate Norman.

The Irish were the first to get on the scoreboard for the 2018 season, thanks to forward Eva Hurm. The sophomore streaked up the left offensive third of the field with the ball before slotting an eight-yard shot into the back right corner of the net just 8:15 into the match.

However, Central Michigan bounced back with the equalizer at 19:12. Madison Costner sent a long cross from outside the right side of the box to the far post, as the ball found the deep corner of the net.

Still tied 1-1 starting the second half, Notre Dame's Olivia Wingate, of Wilmington, looked to push the Irish ahead just five minutes in. The freshman worked past two defenders before her shot ricocheted off the right post back into the keeper's possession. The Irish had another opportunity with 34 minutes left in the game as a loose corner kick ball found an open Sammi Fisher at the top of the box, yet the sophomore's strong strike went just high.

Yet, in the 62nd minute, the Irish broke through via a great play from Brooke VanDyck. The freshman juiced a defender, streaked into the box before dishing to Karin Muya on the right side. Muya then dribbled the endline before slotting a pass back to VanDyck who finished the play with a goal.

The 14th-ranked Notre Dame women's soccer team used a late two-goal rally to pick up its second win of the season Sunday, defeating Loyola-Chicago 2-1.

The Irish will welcome Stony Brook to Alumni Stadium on Thursday (7 pm) as the finish off their three-game homestand to begin the season.

Thirty-seven locals take part in '46th annual Falmouth Road Race event

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

Over 11,200 runners descended on Falmouth on Sunday afternoon to take part in the 46th Annual Falmouth Road Race, the prestigious seven mile race from Woods Hole to Falmouth, which annually attracts runners from all over the world.

This year was no exception, with Canada's Ben Flanagan finishing first overall in a time of 32:21, while Carolyn Chepkoech of Kenya took top female honors in a time of 35:48.

Many local runners from both Wilmington and Tewksbury were also in the field, with 19 competitors from Tewksbury and 18 from Wilmington putting in great efforts.

Sarah Hjelmstad of Wilmington was the top overall local finisher, finishing 178th overall in a time of 24:38. The 42-year old Hjelmstad also finished 37th out of 6,295 female runners and was second out of 717 runners in the female 40-44 age group.

Other Wilmington finishers included Amy Fisher (3,436th, 1:02:33), Eric Rizzo (3,469th, 1:02:59), Craig Henry (3,678th, 1:03:01), Emily Colosimo (3,962nd, 1:03:49), Stephanie Rice (4,032nd, 1:03:59), Taylor Santry (5,107th, 1:06:45), Jeremy Hanson (5,499th, 1:07:45), Jennifer Picard (5,586th, 1:07:57), Jennifer Silveira (5,738th, 1:08:21), Michelle Drown (7,445th, 1:13:26), Carin Bennett Rizzo (8,261st, 1:16:17), Michael Melcher (8,686th, 1:18:07), Kelly McGowan (9,028th, 1:19:39), Shannon McHugh (9,273rd, 1:21:01), Emily Wagner (9,728th, 1:23:53), Chelsea Fralick (9,984th, 1:26:03) and Melissa Jovelakis (10,354th, 1:29:37).

Trish Bourne led way among Tewksbury residents, finishing 462nd in a time of 49:20. Bourne was also 93rd out of 6,924 female runners and fifth out of 509 runners in the female 50-54 age group.

Other Wilmington finishers included David Hanafin (1,278th, 55:18), Michael Cattaneo (1,355th, 55:39), Marli Piccolo (2,515th, 59:42), Benjamin Bourne (2,628th, 1:00:10), Jocelyn Fallon (3,788th, 1:03:18), Lillian Gagnon (4,292nd, 1:04:36), 14-year old Maci Chapman (4,378th, 1:04:50), Sarah Hogan (5,515th, 1:07:48), Jonathan Duggan (5,925th, 1:08:51), Kristine Naughton (6,232nd, 1:09:48), Peter Farkas (6,354th, 1:10:09), Jim Gallagher (7,219th, 1:12:43), Paul Ricciardi (8,972nd, 1:19:21), 13-year old Brady Chapman (9,131st, 1:20:13), Nicole Laine (9,344th, 1:21:38), Barry Lewin (1,31:53), Jamie Ricciardi (10,874th, 1:40:22) and 75-year old Robert Soldani (11,176th, 2:04:15).

While the Falmouth Road

Race was obviously the biggest of the past week, it was not the only race that saw our local runners perform well.

Last Tuesday in Lowell, the Beat Beethoven 5K featured four runners from Tewksbury, led by Tom Cassidy, who finished 21st overall in a time of 1:27:75, followed by Billy McCarthy (106th, 27:54.72), Krystal Veator (141st, 31:10.10) and Rachel Holmes (154th, 31:59).

Last Wednesday at the Mystic Runners Lake Q 5K in Wakefield, Wilmington runners dominated the field, with nine locals competing in the race.

Ben Packer, 17, led the Wilmington pack, finishing third overall in a time of 18:42, followed by three more young runners, with 17-year old Kevin Elderd taking fifth in a time of 20:06, 18-year old Sarah Lynn Burns in sixth in a time of 20:13 and 16-year old Joe Lydon in seventh in a time of 20:52, while Wilmington High Girls Track coach Brian Schell turned in another fine performance, finishing 12th in a time of 23:08.

Other Wilmington finishers included Brian Elderd (21st, 25:37), Sean Lydon (25th, 26:30), Marcos Rodriguez (46th, 34:42) and Liam Lydon (49th, 43:11).

Jake Aquino was the lone Tewksbury finisher, taking ninth place in a time of 22:34.

Tuesday, August 14:

6:56 a.m.: A motor vehicle collision occurred at Poncho Cantina on Ballardvale Street involving a Chevrolet Silverado with a trailer. No one was injured in the collision.

10:09 a.m.: Two street lights had to be replaced after they were vandalized, one on Nassau Avenue and one on Dunton Road.

11:47 a.m.: The tire valves of a small, pink beach cruiser were vandalized while it was locked to a bike rack in the MBTA parking lot on Main Street.

1:07 p.m.: Graciane Pacheco, 37, of 786 Summer St. in Lynn was arrested on a warrant for unlicensed operation of a motor vehicle, as well as for obstructing a stationary emergency vehicle.

4:09 p.m.: The light pole at the intersection of Lowell Street and Woburn Street was damaged in a collision involving a Honda Accord and a Subaru Impreza. The pole's wires were exposed.

Wednesday, August 15:

6:33 a.m.: The driver of a Chevrolet Silverado was given written warnings for marked lanes violation, adult seatbelt violation, and speeding after a collision involving a BMW 5 Series and a Honda Pilot. The incident occurred at the intersection of Route 125 and Ballardvale Street and was briefly thought to be a hit and run as one of the drivers was confused after the collision.

9:13 a.m.: A motor vehicle collision occurred on Bal-lardvale Street involving a Mazda 6 and a Subaru Impreza.

9:58 a.m.: Animal Control brought an injured rabbit from Douglas Avenue to Best Pets for medical attention.

The 14th annual Chamber of Commerce 5K and 15K Event set for September 23

WILMINGTON, MA - Coming this September runners are invited to Wilmington as the Chamber of Commerce will host the 14th running of their Half Marathon and 5K Run or Walk on September 23rd.

Conveniently located north of Boston only a half mile off Rt. 93 on Rt. 62, the run will start at Waltham Street and wind through Wilmington's scenic back roads to finish back at the start. There is ample free parking. The Half (13.1 miles) and 5K (3.1 miles) are on courses that are USATF certified and flat, fast and well marked. Over 500 athletes participate each year.

Entry fees are:
Half Marathon - $35 Pre-Registration / $40 Race Day
5K Run/Walk - $20 Pre-Registration / $25 Race Day
Students (18 and younger) - $15

Race Time:
8:00 am - 9:30 am - Registration and Sign-in 9:45 am - Racers/Walkers to Start Lines at 10 Waltham St.

10:00 am - Shotgun Start for both races.

Both races start and finish at 10 Waltham St.

Three Ways to Register:
1. Online by 9/20: www.ChamberRace.RaceWir

e.com (by credit card)
2. Mail registration form & check made payable to:

Wilmington/Tewksbury Chamber of Commerce, 226 Lowell St., Suite B4A, Wilmington, MA 01887. Visit www.wilmingtontewksburychamber.org/race/ to download registration form

3. Race Day registration begins at 8:00 am

Bib Pick-Up:
Saturday, 9/22, from 8 am - 10 am at the Race Site OR on Race Day from 8 am - 9:30 am

Race Amenities & Perks:

Premier Sponsor:
Lahey Health

See Chamber website for listing of all 50 race sponsors. Race proceeds benefit college scholarships, various community donations, and the operations of the Chamber. Contact the Chamber at 978-657-7211 for additional details or visit: www.wilmingtontewksburychamber.org

Post Race Party:
Runners who show their race bib on September 23rd at Red Heat Tavern (300 Lowell Street) will receive half off appetizers.

Sole Sisters Running Club:
While many local running clubs participate in the race every year, it has become popular with athletes from Wilmington's Sole Sisters Running Club. Many of the 300+ club members will compete in either the Half or 5K, while others are out on the course providing motivation and manning water stop stations.

Team Kelli:
For the 9th year, Team Kelli Family and Friends will reunite to run/walk in memory of Kelli Agati Murray. Kelli passed away in June 2010 leaving behind five beautiful children and a town filled with family & friends. Race proceeds are used each year to fund a scholarship in Kelli's name which are presented by Pat Agati in May.

Sons of Italy Golf Tournament, Sept. 28

The Angelo Giuseppe Roncalli Lodge #2183, Sons of Italy of Wilmington and the Italian Heritage Month Committee, are proud to announce the Ninth Annual Italian Heritage Golf Classic in celebration of October as Italian Heritage Month on Friday, September 28, 2018 at the Merrimack Valley Golf Club in Methuen.

The committee invites you to participate in a great day of golf, food and fun. As in the past, 100 percent of the proceeds from the golf classic will benefit the Alzheimer's Association, Cooley's Anemia Foundation and the Italian Heritage Scholarship Fund. Over the last eight years, the tournament has raised $35,000!

The entry fee per golfer is $125.00, which includes greens fee, golf cart, a player gift, continental breakfast, Italian sausage sub at the turn and a luncheon buffet. Golfers may register individually or in teams of four; individual golfers will be placed on a team. Prizes will be given to first, second and third place teams. There will be contests on the course, a 50/50 raffle and a raffle table at the luncheon. Tickets are available for the luncheon only, at $35.00 per person.

The tournament is a shotgun start and a scramble format. On the day of the tournament, registration begins at 7:30 am and tee time is at 8:30 am. If you are not a golfer and would like to support our charitable golf tournament, sponsorships are available. You may sponsor a hole for $100 or a golf cart for $50 or provide a gift certificate that will enhance our raffle table.

For further information on participating in the tournament, sponsorships or donating a gift to the raffle, please call Tournament Chairman Kevin Cairat at (978) 657-7734.
